To Be Surrendered to St Louis Authorities and Tried for Swindling.

MAN OF MANY ALIASES

Is Accused of Stealing a Mail Pouch Containing $500,000 Worth of Negotiable Bank Paper and With Swindling and Forgery.

New York, Oct. 3 .- Word was reselved here Friday night that F. H. Crosby, alias A. E. Bell, alias Hammond, alias Crawford, had been arrested at Denver, acused of stealing a mail pouch containing $500,000 worth of negotiable bank paper at Philadelphia on the night of September 8, and with several other crimes, including swindling and forgery. It is aleged that Crosby arrived in this country from Crowe, England, last summer and went to Asbury Park, where he posed as a fruit speculator. His wife mingled in good society there and introduced her husband to prominent business men and at the banks there, where he made deposits, declaring to the officials that he intended continuing his account for the summer months.

On September 10 he deposited a number of checks, payable to his order, drawn on different Philadelphia firms. Two days later he closed the accounts, withdrawing the amounts due him. He and his wife then left Asbury Park. Asbury Park Banks Henvy Losers

About this time, it is said, W. W. Dickson, chief post office inspector of Philadelpha, discovered the theft of a mail pouch containing bank remittances from Philadelphia to Pittsburg, the entire amounts being estimated at

It is alleged that during the last ten flays complaints were received at Asbury Park banks that checks accepted by them had been tampered with; that the name of the payees had been erased and Crosby's name inserted, and that small amounts had been raised to larger ones.

Wanted in St. Louis.

It was recalled that a mail pouch had been stolen at Springfield Junction, Ill., last April, and that an A. E. Hammond had opened a cash account at the Lincoln Trust Co., St. Louis, depositing a number of checks from the stolen mail pouch. It was suspected Mo., who has charge of the cows, has that the mail pouch robbery was committed by A. E. Bell, alias Crawford, whose photograph was identified by the officials of the St. Louis bank.

Investigation at Asbury Park developed that Crosby was none other than A. E. Hammond, alias Bell, alias Crawford, etc. Post Office Inspector Jacobs traced him to Denver, where he was taken into custody last night.

In 1894, Crosby is said to have been arrested here, while trying to cash a $1,200 check with a Maiden Lane jewsler, and to have been sent to Elmira reformatory, from which he was released in 1897.

Through an agreement with the post office, Crosby will be surrendered to the about the daily yield of milk this sea St. Louis authorities to stand trial on son, the weekly yield of butter, the a charge of swindling.

Served Time in Jefferson City. Crosby is said to have been arrested in this city in the company of "Kid" Foster, a Peoria (Ill.) pickpocket, while they were attempting to cash a draft for $425 with Marcus & Co., the Broad way jewelers. It was afterwards learned that the draft offered by Crosby had been stolen from a mail pouch in the New York Central depot at Buf falo. For this crime he was sentenced to five years in Auburn prison, Foster getting off with three years. Crosby also served a three-year term in the Jefferson City (Mo.) penitentiary for a similar offense.

The woman who passed as Mrs. Crosby is said to be a western woman, and has shown considerable skill in obtaining introductions at banks. Cros by hails from Kansas City.

Cheap Fares Will, Railroad Men Say, Depend Upon Coaditions.

Pascengers Agents Demand Protec tion Against Scalpers' Traffic in Excursion Tickets.

St. Louis, Oct. 3.-Important among the subjects considered by the passen ger officials of the St. Louis lines at their meeting, which has just closed was that of protecting World's fair excursion tickets from the operations of "scalpers." The attendance at the fair will admittedly be largely influenced by the final adjustment of this matter, since the railroads insist that they can not make low rates unless they are given proper protection. With such protection a half-rate or one even lower is expected. At the meeting of the passenger agents a committee was appointed to devise means of protection and report October 25. The committee is composed of L. W. Wakely, general passenger and ticket agent of the Burlington: C. S. Crane, general passenger and ticket agent of the Wabash, and A. H. Hanson, general passenger agent of the Illinois Central.

The chief problem is to find a means of preventing the manipulation by "scalpers" of the return coupons of low-rate excursion tickets, such manipulation, it is said, inflicting a heavy loss on the railroads every year. The loss would be particularly heavy, it is said, during the World's fair, with low rates in force from all points.

Passenger officials say the manipulation of these return coupons amounts to forgery. In their efforts to stop it they began prosecutions under the laws of Missouri for forgery. The cases they made were thrown out of the courts on the ground that the Missouri statute covering the crime of forgery did not specify forgery of railroad transportation as an offense, whereas is mentions forgery of checks, bonds and such papers.

BROWN SWISS CATTLE.

Strong Effort Being Made For Good Representation of This Breed At the World's Fair.

World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis, Oct. 3-The Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders' association is making a strong effort to secure an exceptionally good representation of that breed at the World's fair, both in the breeding classes and in the cow demonstration. Harry McCullough, of Fayette, issued a letter calling attention to the importance of sending the best cows obtainable to St. Louis. He says:

"The World's fair at St. Louis, in 1904. will afford the best possible opportunity for calling the widest attention to the great excellence of the Brown Swiss cattle as profitable milk and beef producers, and the most should be made of this favorable occa-York, Buffalo and other cities. What Neurasthenia Means. No word is so common in these days as neurasthenia; yet it is not easy to define, and many of those who use it have only the vaguest idea of what it means. The word originated with a New York physician and the malady indicated thereby has usually been regarded as a distinctively American one though it is found in most countries of the civilized world, and the unfortunate Mrs. Carlyle is now declared by Sir James Crichton Brown to have been "neurotic." Wear and tear storm and stress, a badly regulated life, in short, are the causes usually assigned for this derangement of function resulting from the exhaustion of nervous energy, but defects of nutrition have much to do with it, and the solution of the problem, as in many other cases, may rest ultimately with the cook .- Chicago News.

Fog Cure for Complexion. The fog cure is the latest thing for the complexion. The beautiful complexion of the English woman is attributed to the continuous fog of the island and therefore some American women have conceived the idea of spending the winter in England for the good of their complexion. It is probable that the English complexion has other causes than this, but there is one distinct advantage in a fog for the beauty-seeker-namely, the absence of dust. The care of the complexion consists, to a large extent, in keeping the skin clean, and it is quite conceivable that a foggy atmosphere with no dust to lodge in the pores and clog them might be a preserver of beauty.

I had the parlor and the piano, which are necessities, but I wanted a music rack or case, which in the condition of my finances then was a luxury, so I set my wits to work, and this is what they evolved—a music-rack which answers every possible requirement of utility and beauty.

Having collected 11 broomsticks, I cut them to the lengths desired-three of them 28 inches long, two 39 inches, two 32 inches, two 23 inches, and two 18 inches, and whittled the ends round. Then with a gimlet I bored holes, and fastened the sticks together with screws in the manuer illustrated. A dash of gold paint or a bright ribbon wound between the sticks would further improve its appearance.
